Unhealthy Situation

The nation's transportation industry faces an unhealthy situation, charges a chief executive officer of the Canadian National Railways. "A state of affairs has evolved to the point that the country has become more unhealthy than it has business to justify it."

It is time the government faced up to the problem of present day transportation. Railways should be permitted to open and close rail roads, to change and alter fares as necessary, until they have created a satisfactory business free from government subsidy and control. "The railways are controlled to a ridiculous degree, and yet properly planned and organized the railway is the most efficient way of moving people and goods over long distances."

CNR official Pierre Delagrave, vice-president of passenger sales and service, points out, trains running on a single track can carry as many as 400-600 persons an hour, as opposed to a capacity of 400 persons an hour on a single lane highway, and it takes 50 lanes of highway to carry the same number of passengers. "The railways can be carried on two tracks of rail."

"There is no doubt that the future of inter-city transportation lies with the railways," he said. Around the world giant strides in railway transportation have been made in France, Sweden, Japan and other countries.

Canada is subsidizing highway trans-at the rate of almost $1 billion a year, and the country is fast becoming a concrete jungle with diesel-bellied monster trucks fouling the air. Governments should look again at the large investments made in the construction and maintenance of highways and the high level of taxes needed to maintain them and compare the figures with the cost of rail travel. Canada needs a revitalized transportation system and it is time the railways were free enough to expand in a businesslike way without interference. Scrap the old curbs on the railways, let them get into free competition with other carriers and free taxpayers of the railway subsidies that total about $100,000,000 annually.

Not Just "Two Nations"

Canada is a mixture of many races and national backgrounds. The 1961 census showed 15,305,984 here in Canada, 84.4% of the population.

The census records ethnic group through the father. In 1961, Canada consisted of these backgrounds. Figures show are percentage figures:

British Isles 48.8; French 30.4; German 5.8; Ukrainian 5.6; Italian; Dutch 5.4; Scandinavian 2.1; Polish 1.8; Jewish 1.0; Russian 0.7; Other European 3.9; Chinese 0.3; Japanese 0.2; Other Asia 0.3; Indian or Eskimo 1.2; Other 1.3.

Lindsay boys sign in Toronto. The two youngest sons of P. R. Pickering, Lindsay, have enlisted in Toronto. Mr. Pickering told the Post on Monday. Richard enlisted with the Royal Canadian Engineers, Second Field Park Company, on September 5 and Norman enlisted on September 10 with the Irish Regiment. He is a present at Camp Borden. The former was a member of the boys band here for years and was in the electrical business here with his father. Norman was employed here for several years with Zellers Limited before being transferred to Hamilton and Windsor.

Lloyd Beale, another Lindsay boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beale, enlisted with the Royal Canadian Engineers No. 1 Workshop Shop and Park Company, Toronto. He was in the radio business here before signing up.

Lighting strikes cottage. The summer cottage of D. A. Sinclair, Lindsay, north, Lindsay, was badly damaged by lightning on Friday afternoon. The Post has been informed by residents of Pleasant Point. The cottage, which is on the lakeshore at Pleasant Point, was not burned but a great lightning bolt raised considerable harm on the interior of the building.

The Thursday Post with weekend supplement

Hydro officials from centres throughout Eastern Ontario met in Lindsay Thursday, for the annual two-day convention of District 1 (Eastern) Ontario Municipal Electric Association. Checking the design of an insulator cover, are left to right: Jack Lightbody, Lindsay; James Rose, Whitby; V. R. Seguin, Chalk River; and S. F. Monahan, Chalk River. OMEA is a province-wide association of elected hydro commissioners, which works closely with Ontario Hydro in directing Ontario's public power enterprise.

End of Decline?

Generally speaking, shepherds seem to be enjoying a rather better year than usual and there are some indications of better days ahead.

Wool prices are holding firm and with the added government deficiency payment, the net return on a well grown, well prepared clip is profitable.

Lamb prices have remained somewhat more equable throughout the summer months with a steadily growing demand for choice home grown lamb—the market for early spring lambs is becoming more and more of a factor—the modified scrapie eradication policy is more realistic and may engender some long needed improvements for some of our breeds—there is a wider enquiry for western white faced range ewes with which to establish breeding units of 100 or more ewes on farms, both East and West—and the demand for purebred rams appears to be improved over recent years.

All of this would seem to portend that the decline in our sheep population has been arrested and that more use will be made of the thousands of acres so admirably suited to sheep production. More and more good land and wool will be required in our booming economy and one cannot avoid the prediction that those who stay at home or who are heading into a profitable period.

—Canadian Wool Grower.

Where did we come from?

One in a hundred Canadians is descended from the first inhabitants—the Indians and eskimos. The Indians are not a dying race. Their population has grown from 115,000 in 1941 to 185,000 in 1961. There are about 11-50 Eskimos.

The rest of us, or our ancestors, are New Canadians. Since the end of World War Two immigration has fluctuated. Many thousands came here from the British Isles. The Hungarian revolution and Suez crisis brought a new wave. Large numbers of Italians and Germans have added to the cosmopolitan life of our cities, already founded by Poles, Ukrainians and others.

Some don't stay. Emigration from Canada has substantially reduced the population gains by immigration. In the decade ending in 1961, we lost 399,542 people to the United States, of whom 286,163 were Canadian born. Those who left tended to be our better-situated citizens, often in search of better job opportunities and salaries. This "brain-drain," as some call it, has been one of Canada's perennial problems of growth and identity.

STUFFED LAMB CHOPS

Tender, juicy, Ontario-produced lamb is a treat any time and in many ways. Because lamb cuts come from young animals, they are tender. Only shank, neck and breast cut require long cooking. Lamb should be served very hot on warmed plates, as the fat hardens quickly and becomes very unappealing.

Lamb chops can be pan-broiled, broiled in the oven or baked. This recipe from the Foods Department at Macdonald Institute, Guelph, features lamb chops and blue cheese, a tasty main dish for special occasions.

Blue Cheese Baked Lamb Chops

4 lamb chops, 1 cup bread, stuffing, seasoned to taste, 1/2 cup crumbled blue cheese. Slash outside fat to prevent curling when cooked. Lay chops evenly out two feet apart on heated plate. Slice lean meat to the bone in.

How Can I ???

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make a good selection wedge to hold a hammer or hatchet head on its handle?

A. You can make a good wedge from an ordinary wood screw. Before driving the screw into the top of the handle, cut the last few threads so that it has a triangular shape. The teeth which are formed by the flattened threads serve to hold the wedge securely in place.

Q. My costume jewelry and bracelets are always leaving marks on my skin. Is there any way I can prevent this?

A. Yes, simply coat the contacting surfaces of your jewelry with colorless fingernail polish.

Q. How can I easily drive a tack into nail into a place where it is very difficult to hold it with the fingers?

A. Thrust the tack or nail through a little strip of stiff paper, and hold the end of the paper while hammering.

Book Copying

Here's a handy little tip to pass on to the young bookkeeping students in your family. The carrying of several books under the arm can be made much easier by slipping a piece of paper between the front cover of one book and the back cover of the next book and so on with each additional book.

Vase Cleaner

When you're finding it difficult to insert a cleaning cloth into a deep vase, use a double sheet of newspaper rolled into a compact cylinder. Clip and cleaning solution.

A LOVELIER YOU

By MARK SUE MILLER

OFF TO SLEEP YOU GO. Regular sound sleep is as vital to beauty as to health. After several nights of inadequate sleep, think how you look as gray as you feel last week.

Just how much sleep do you need? For adults it is an individual matter. Some people thrive on six hours, while others need nine. Your bedtime should be dictated by personal choice. You may prefer to retire early at a time when you are not so tired, or the other way round. The hours are immaterial, as long as you get the proper amount of sleep.

For a good night's rest the first requisite is comfortable sleeping arrangements, such as a firm mattress and pillow, a frequent change of linen, and a fresh 100 per cent. air-ventilator and springs are recommended, if you are sensitive to night and noise.

A second necessity is a relaxed approach. You can't force sleep. It won't come unless you wind down and relax your tensions. On these hot nights it is especially tranquilizing to devote a leisurely half-hour basking down, to take a tepid shower, and let the face and hair slip into a fresh night's sleep (hair cottons are coolest), and sip a glass of chilled fruit juice.

One is best concentrate on relaxing your muscles—let it all drift away with the time. Then the body goes limp, the muscles relax, and off to sleep you go.

PATRICIA MCCORMACK

New York, (UPI) — Is your mother a child "dragon"ayer — or one who fractures the lingo another way?

When he goes to the ice cream store does he "ink" he wants a "hoda" instead of thinking he wants a soda?

At the candy counter, does he ask for "randy"?

Two New Jersey speech therapists have a bookish therapy for youngsters such as these and others with tongue-tied problems over pronunciation of "R," "S," "TH," "L," "K," and "P."

The two experts, both mothers, have had more than 10 years experience in speech therapy. They discovered that such mangling of the words by young children usually stems from mis-hearing than from a speech impediment.

The child hasn't learned to listen and hear, and repeat the sound correctly.

To help such children, Jan Stepien and Ann Siedler co-authored as authors of "listen-hear" books, a six-volume series recently published by Follett publishing company in Chicago.

Each book in the series deals with one specific sound that children find difficult to make. Characters in the stories "le-le" clatter roaring dragons, giants, a naughty princess, a cock who couldn't crow, Alfie and a sea monster.

The plot of each requires the main character to learn the correct sound before the car can be woven into a happy ending.

While writing the series, the authors returned to graduate school at New York University. Once the concept for the series was clear, the two worked in son another's kitchens working out the stories. Over summer holidays one of them talked plots for weeks and months.

Delivery boys, repainting, cleaning girls, the gas man and many neighborhood children ran the stories tested on them as the two women discussed each with a lip, cobs with a frog in their throats, and "dragons."

They spent more than two years developing the stories. For the acid test they tried them on their own children.

"If we didn't see their eyes light up, out it went," they said. Pupils in a Summit, N.J. school helped further when the stories got to the child-testing stage.

Mrs. Stepien has been a speech therapist at the language clinic at Massachusetts general Hospital in Boston and the National Hospital for Speech Disorders in New York.

She conducted a speech clinic at Newton, N.J., for Easter Seals and was speech therapist in the Cedar Grove School system of New Jersey. Mrs. Siedler followed Mrs. Stepien to the National Hospital for Speech Disorders in New York and later became speech consultant for schools in Cedar Grove, N.J.

The two women have other books up their sleeves, but right now they're concentrating on graduate school and rearing children.

Mrs. Siedler, wife of a lawyer, lives in Montclair, N.J. Her four children range in age from five to 14.

The Stepiens — he's a research mathematician — live in Summit. Their three children range in age from eight to 13.

In both households the sounds of speech are oh, so

There are presently thirteen campsites open in Clyde Town-perfect — except when the moose's testing out a new speech-correction fable.

Injured cyclist's condition reported as "still critical"

St. Michael's Hospital Authorities in Toronto report the condition of Lynn Saunders, 13, of 86 Wellington Street, is still critical. It is reported that the LCVI student, who was struck by an automobile while riding her bicycle on Kent Street on September 18, has not regained consciousness since the accident.

The girl was transferred to St. Michael's Hospital from RMI after an accident just west of the intersection of Kent and Albert Streets, on Kent Street, in which a car driven by Ronald Walby, 28, of 164 Colborne Street struck the girl who was allegedly making a left turn onto Albert Street.

Police Chief John Hunter said no charges have been laid.

NO PERRY MASON SO OFFERS TO DEFEND HIMSELF

"He's not Perry Mason; won't have him," barked Vernon McGuire of Lindsay Police Court Thursday. Referring to David Logan, who was offered free legal aid to the accused, he said, "I don't want this lawyer. He is young and inexperienced." Pounding his fist on the table McGuire said, "I'll defend myself."

Magistrate C. W. Guest had the accused removed from the courtroom and remanded for 30 days to the Ontario House of Correction.

Magistrate McGuire was appearing on a charge of indecent exposure and causing a disturbance which had been remanded Monday.

$50 or 7 days for impaired driver

Vernon Moore of 35 Legie Street was fined $50 and costs or 7 days after he was convicted in Lindsay Police Court Thursday of driving while his ability was impaired. Magistrate C. W. Guest said "A man doesn't have much consideration for his children when he goes out drinking and driving."

Mr. Moore, the father of six children ranging in age from six months to 15 years, claimed he was tricked into a breath-alizer test at the Lindsay OPP detachment office. He said police were going to show him how it worked, but after he blew it two bags they were placed in a container which was then sealed. When police testified that he staggered and his speech was slurred, he attributed these to a defective leg, that is a variation in the length of his legs and an impediment in his speech.

Corporal Arthur Armbrage, the breath-alizer operator from Peterborough detachment, said the readings on the machine were 1.5 parts per thousand and 1.4 parts per thousand, which would be an indication of five or six drinks. He said he thought the reading would be reasonably high for a man of the accused's weight.

Moore, who is a part-time farm-hand, admitted having a few drinks but said his weaving over the centre line of Highway 7, as observed by Lindsay OPP Constable Robert McGuire, was due to loose steering in his car and tiredness on his part.

Lands and Forest staff changes

Ken Iriawa, Lindsay District Department of Lands and Forests Fish and Wildlife Supervisor for the past four years has been transferred to the Fish and Wildlife Branch, Head Office, as Supervisor of the Game Management Subsection. Perry W. Swanson (above right) has been appointed to the position of Fish and Wildlife Supervisor for the Lindsay District. Mr. Swanson has been the Senior Conservation Officer for the Lindsay District the past four years.

Fenelon Falls man fined $150, costs for careless driving

A Fenelon Falls man, Charles Worell, was fined $150 and costs in Lindsay Police Court after he pleaded guilty of careless driving. He was given 30 days as an alternative to the fine.

Lindsay OPP Constable Robert McGuire said the charges arose from a recent accident on September 9th at 1:30 a.m. north of Cameron. He said the car went off the shoulder of the road, through a wire fence and smashed seven or eight posts causing $500 damage to the car and $75 damage to the fence.

Constable Health investigated.

Fair Stands the Breeze for Nova Scotia Proud Province on the Move

Bound by scenic beauty, foaming Atlantic rollers and the surge of great tides, Canada's east-coast eastern threshold — Nova Scotia — is null away for the future. With course drawn clear on a brand-new, multi-headed chart of industry and business, the province's 760,000 population is producing more than ever before. As new vigor and outlook spur technological advance and resource development, the province's steel, fish, auto, agricultural, mineral, electronics, construction, forestry and other varied industries have boosted Nova Scotia's total value of production to $1,000,000,000 — solid economic indicators that this picturesque province looks attractive also to hard-headed businessmen and modern industries. In Nova Scotia the tide of business is on the flood, the engines of industry at full-sail.

Main Street Comments

In the year 1908 Lindsay Junior O.H.A. Midgets lost in the final at Stratford Midgets. In the following year, both these teams turned to the Intermediate category and again both teams met in the final but this time Lindsay overcame the tables and won the Ontario championship. The Manager of the team was Artie Perkins, who worked in the produce plant operated by the Fias in the building where Rosedale Plastics are now located.

A room mate of Artie Perkins was Bill House, then a clerk in the hardware store of McLennan Brothers. In fact a year or two later House became the manager of the Midgets and saw the team go a long way up the ladder. This same Bill House took a stroll along Kent Street last Saturday night and almost renewed some old acquaintances. Naturally he saw many changes.

In the days of yesterday, House played baseball in Lindsay with the Wideawakes, a formidable team in the town league, a team which included such baseball players as Bill Workman, Harry Workman, George Miller and Norm McGill. Bill House was one of the originals in the Lindsay cross organization and coming from C. Catherine he was not only a lover of the game, but a fairly good player. However increase did not catch this imagination of Lindsay people. Bill House recalled the formation of the Lindsay Rotary some 63 years ago and later on when he moved he became president of the Rotary Club of that town. His chauffeur Lindsay was another former resident of Lindsay. "Ode" Newton now a prominent Trenton businessman, in his younger days Newton carried on in the Skeltife store in Lindsay. He was also interested in sports.

For several years Bill House was business in Trenton and with him was associated his brother-in-law Rod Maundier. The business is now operated by a son of Mr. House and Bill is to be found in the store practically every day. In casual conversation he said, "Lindsay was always a fine town and I am pleased to learn the town is progressing. I can see the improvement on the main street and have noticed how the town has spread its wings in four directions".

World news today

Paris. — A woman plunged from the platform between the two towers of Notre Dame Cathedral today, hitting another woman on the ground outside the main cathedral doors.

Both women were rushed to the hospital. The woman who fell, the main Paris hospital said, died. The young woman who was hit, however, was admitted to the hospital.

Police tentatively identified her as a young English tourist, Veronica McConnell, 24. She was a member of a group of American and English tourists who arrived in Paris last night.

The other woman, believed to be French, was not immediately identified. Her condition was said to be grave.

London. — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip, who leave Monday for a one-week visit to Canada, returned to London today at the end of their annual vacation at Balmoral castle in Scotland.

The Queen looked rested and well. She and Prince Philip travelled by overnight train from Scotland with their two youngest children, Prince Andrew, 4 and 7-month-old Prince Edward.

Cairo, U.A.R. — A five-story apartment house, collapsed today in Cairo, a densely populated residential district in the northeastern sector of Cairo.

A number of residents were killed and others injured. Police said rescue workers dug out three bodies within two hours of the collapse. Three persons were taken to hospitals with serious injuries, and an estimated 40 others were believed buried under the debris.

Police said a preliminary investigation showed that faulty construction was the cause of the collapse. The house contained 12 apartments and three shops. The building originally had two stories, but three other floors were hastily added only two months ago.

Algiers, Algeria. — The Algerian government today nationalized possessions of Algerians who collaborated with the French or profited from the Algerian revolution.

The massive operation, which began without warning last night, meant the seizure of homes, businesses, furniture and other property of French collaborators and persons who bought property at cut prices when the French fled at the end of the revolution.

More than 100 homes and businesses were seized last night in Algiers. Bids, Hadfield (formerly Mergel) and Bougie.

The seizures were made under a law passed by the last national assembly.

In Indiana with Goldwater. — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater charged that President Lyndon Johnson is downgrading U.S. defense and nuclear strength while the Chinese communists are "preparing to set of a nuclear bomb that will may be heard around the world."

The GOP presidential nominee kept up his "soft on communism" charges against the administration as he rolled his whistle-stop campaign from Ohio to India. In a speech prepared for delivery in India, he said Johnson has no principles to support his policies and no stomach to face up to the problems of peace and preparedness.

WELL EQUIPPED

London (UPI) — David Brown a millionaire engineering industrialist whose company designed a special Aston Martin car for James Bond to drive in the film "Goldfinger," hopes the car will be licensed for the road without removing too much of its special equipment. It includes such useful devices for London traffic as a pair of Browning machine guns, a jet-tension seat for unconscious passengers and a heater like knives on a rear wheel for cutting the tires of rival cars.

Says? This big, beautiful car almost over the word. Inside, the glow of luxury was never so great, with deep pile carpeting, superb vinyl and rich fabric. Meteor looks after little things like a key that works up down or down only (don't matter). Big things are done with Meteor's hot new 240 cubic inch "Averager" 6". The designers of Meteor's new frame and suspension think they're beautiful. So will you when you feel the difference in ride and handling.

Any place is scenic where there's Meteor (your Mercury dealer's, for instance). And it looks like it costs a lot more than it does. So see a '65 Meteor. Now you've started something wonderful.

Allen Cavana

Allen James Cavana entered into rest at the home of his son-in-law, Kenneth Taylor, Little Britain, Ontario on Friday, September 25th, in his 90th year. Funeral services were conducted at the Mackay Funeral Home on Monday, September 28th with interment at Riverside Cemetery.

Allen Cavana was born in 1875 in a log shanty near the now deserted Howies School. He was the youngest member of a family of twelve that arrived in Canada in 1871, and while he was born in Canada, he inherited and retained many Irish superstitions. He inherited longevity too from his parents, all of whom outlived three score and ten, his father having lived for almost 94 years.

The passing of Allen Cavana marked the end of that immigrant family who helped to build this Canada today. He was well and favorably known in the lumber industry, and following his marriage to Mabel Newman of Kinnoult, he devoted his skill to farming on the burnt River area. He retired to Lindsay several years ago, and with the passing of his wife he gave up his home and lived with members of his family throughout Ontario and Quebec.

JUST A TASTE...

Corby, England, U.P. — Fellow steelworkers felt Robert Simpson, 25, should have a foretaste before his wedding tomorrow. They tied a 10-pound lead ball and a six-foot chain to his left leg, marched him around the factory, and left him to hobble home where it took three hours to cut himself free.
